Exploring Possibilities, Strengthening Enterprises

From the Editor's Desk

As we approach the close of another transformative year at BYST, I am filled with gratitude and renewed conviction in the power of grassroots enterprise. Across our districts and clusters, thousands of young men and women have taken bold steps to turn ideas into sustainable ventures; many becoming local job creators, community anchors and symbols of self-reliance. Their courage reminds us why BYST exists: to ensure that no aspiring entrepreneur is held back by lack of guidance, opportunity or support.

This year, our Mentor-Mentee model continued to prove its strength, enabling entrepreneurs to navigate business challenges with confidence. We deepened our work with women and SC/ST entrepreneurs, expanded digital skilling, and encouraged green business practices that not only protect the planet but strengthen enterprise viability. We also forged impactful partnerships with donors, financial institutions and industry leaders - each collaboration helping us unlock new pathways for financing, market access and technology adoption.

As we step into a new year, BYST remains committed to scaling up our impact, strengthening local ecosystems, and nurturing many more "Grampreneurs" who will shape India's inclusive growth story. I thank our mentors, partners, donors and the BYST team for their unwavering dedication.

Together, we will continue to empower India's young innovators to dream, build and lead. Wishing you all a happy and prospering 2026

Success Story

Two wheeler service garage, Kick-starting a New Future

Growing up in Bhawanipatna, Odisha, Sahil Agarwal's life changed drastically when his father, who ran a small two-wheeler service garage, was diagnosed with cancer. The illness drained the family's savings, and after his father's passing, the young Sahil was left to shoulder responsibilities with limited education and no stable income. At just 16, he dropped out of school and took up labor work at a construction site to survive, while quietly holding on to his dream of reviving his father's business.

Years of hard work helped Sahil save Rs. 40,000, but repeated loan rejections from banks became a major setback. His turning point came when he approached

Bharatiya Yuva Shakti Trust (BYST) at the Kalahandi cluster. Recognising his determination, BYST facilitated him for a Rs. 5 lakh Mudra loan and connected him with a mentor, Mr. Sunil Behera, who guided him on business operations and customer management.

With this support, Sahil revived the garage as M/s RK Rajesh Motors, expanded into two-wheeler spare parts, and steadily built trust within the community. By 2024, the business achieved a turnover of Rs. 14 lakhs and created employment for 10 local youths.

Beyond business success, Sahil gave back by setting up a free computer training centre offering PGDC courses to underprivileged students. Today, Sahil Agarwal stands as a symbol of resilience-transforming personal loss into sustainable livelihood, community growth, and renewed hope for others.
